It is my pleasure. I actually owed you one anyway, but maybe we should keep score.

Neil,
I know that was choppy at the start but I'm glad we did that call. My biggest concern was that we would forage for information and either come up with an erroneous validation of the DOE LCC or that we would not be able to get information.
I will let you know as soon as I hear back from Rick and look forward to your quote. I will run this scenario up the flagpole in my company and hope that they are willing to incur the appropriate costs to get to the bottom of it.
I owe you one!
